DETAILED ACTION

Receipt is acknowledged of applicant's amendment filed (10/9/2007). The previous office actions Non-Final dated (11/06/2007) and election (8/21/2007) are withdrawn.

This supplemental office action will reset the response time period.

Election-Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

Group I: Claims 1-38, 44-49

Drawn to a method and apparatus (of acquiring satellite signals with assistance data), classified in class 342, subclass 357.09.

Group II: Claims 40-43

Drawn to a method (of an assistance server transmitting to mobile in cellular network by supplying effect of three dimensional navigation environment with blocking probability density, search satellite signal in decreasing order and improving multipath rejection), classified in class 342, subclass 358.

Group III: Claim 39

Drawn to a method (of enriching navigation assistance data in a mobile telephone network with corrections broadcast by SBAS system), classified in class 342, subclass 367.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another and materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case, the process as claimed can be practiced by another and materially different apparatus, such as a mobile terminal with dedicated DSP to calculate the probability density at specified order in searching satellite signals while the server must equip to provide such information other than typical satellite ephemeris data from a typical augmentation server. Invention II and I/III are therefore different viewing its needs of different devices to fulfill the methods.

Inventions I and III are different because I can be implemented with assistance data provided without SBAS system used, such as a LMDS ground based broadband server or cellular based server.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper because all these inventions listed in this action are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious search and examination burden if restriction were not required because one or more of the following reasons apply:

- (a) the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification;
- (b) the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art due to their recognized divergent subject matter;
- (c) the inventions require a different field of search (for example, searching different classes/subclasses or electronic resources, or employing different search queries);
- (d) the prior art applicable to one invention would not likely be applicable to another invention;
- (e) the inventions are likely to raise different non-prior art issues under 35 U.S.C. 101 and/or 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected invention.

If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable upon the elected invention.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.
